5、弟走從軍阿姨死，暮去朝來顏色故。門前冷落車馬稀，老大嫁作商人婦。商人重利輕別離，前月浮梁買茶去。去來江口守空船，絞船明月江水寒。夜深忽夢少年事，夢啼妝妝紅闌干。
6、種豆南山下，草盛豆苗稀。晨興理荒穢，帶月荷鉤歸。道狹草木長，夕露霧我衣。衣霧不足惜，但使願無違。

閻詠〈先府君行狀〉
1. English Composition (35 points).
   "Students from mainland China should be allowed to attend universities in Taiwan. This would create better understanding and better relations between the two sides."
   Do you agree or disagree with this statement?
   Write a short composition, in about 200 words, to give your response.

2. Translate the following two texts into Chinese (20 points each).
   (A) Much of our understanding of mind reading comes from two remarkable scientists, a teacher and his pupil: Silvan Tomkins and Paul Ekman. Tomkins was the teacher. He was born in Philadelphia at the turn of the last century, the son of a dentist from Russia. He was short and thick around the middle, with a wild mane of white hair and huge black plastic-rimmed glasses. He taught psychology at Princeton and Rutgers and was the author of Affect, Imagery, Consciousness, a four-volume work so dense that its readers were evenly divided between those who understood it and thought it was brilliant and those who did not understand it and thought it was brilliant.

   (B) Imagine an airline check-in queue in Chicago or London. Seven people stand there, looking in different directions. One is a solicitor of Afro-Caribbean origin, another a blonde-haired girl whose family come from northern Europe, another a computer expert who was born in India. The fourth is a Chinese teenager listening to music on a Walkman. The fifth, sixth, and seventh are all attending a conference on rock art and come respectively from Australia, New Guinea, and South America. All seven are quiet, and avoid eye contact because they neither know one another nor feel related in any way. Yet it can be proved that they are all related and ultimately all have an African female and male ancestor in common.
