Author Guidelines

Manuscript Submission

The submission of manuscripts for review and consideration is conducted through the on-line Editorial Manager®. The submission of reviews for the Digital Reviews section of the journal is through the Digital Reviews Editor. All reviews will be commissioned by the Digital Reviews Editor, and while unsolicited contributions are not encouraged, general expressions of interest from prospective reviewers are welcome and may be sent by email directly to the editor. Questions about the suitability or appropriateness of manuscripts for the journal may be discussed in advance of submission by contacting the editor.

Author Guidelines

Advances in Archaeological Practice publishes original scholarly work on how archaeologists learn about the past, convey findings in the present, or manage resources for the future. Articles are short, succinct, and problem oriented offering tangible take-aways that can be applied quickly to the day-to-day work of archaeologists in academia, government, and private practice. "Practice" is defined broadly and topics can include, but are not limited to, innovations and best practices in technique, method, technology, business models, collaboration,
